THE FINANCIAL CRISIS.

TROUBLES IN CAIRO

Yesterday the firm of Khalifa Naggar of Cairo and a number of other firms suspended payment. It is hoped that if the creditors exercise forbearance the serious consequences of these disasters will be greatly mitigated. We are informed that if the case of Khalifa Naggar be castellily handled, the creditors should get a great proportion of their money book it is said that the liabilities of Khalifa.

should get a great proportion of their meany back. It is said that the likabilities of Hishifs. Naggar amounted to more than half a million on the 14th int. In the case of Shah Brothers their assets are reported to be superior to their likabilities. The firms, who have supended payment besides that of Naggar are Palace! The Hishifs and Company, Shah Brothers, British and Company, Shah Brothers, British and Sons, Sanantir Blass.

"TO EMPIRE VIA DENSHAWAI."

(From The New Age.)

Just about a year ago a party of British offi-cers got mixed up in a village row at Denshawa; in in Egypt. They had gone to amout ethemselve by shooting pigeons, the domesticated pigeons of the villagers, and had apparently not been careful to get permission. By accident an Egyptian woman got wounded, the officers were mobbed and lost their heads, two of them ran for help while three were beaten by the crowd, and one of those who ran dropped

Now it does not need a very pro Now it does not need a very profound knowledge of the psychology of the British officer to recognise in this incident all his characteristic bravado and stopidity. The officers had not taken the trouble to either understand the language or the humanity of the villagers, who were treated as creatures of another species another species.

Consequently at the first sign of the break-down of the formal nexus of behaviour which enables the British officer to communicate with the Egyptian village, the officers were hopelessly bewildered, lost their heads and gave ippressed.

But even granting that there is an Egyptian fationalist movement, is there any evidence Bat even grauting that there is an Egyptian Nationalist movement, is there any evidence at all that the mobbing of some stupid men at Denshawai had anything to do with it? In fact, there is no justification whatsoever for this belief, there are no reasons, only motives, and the motives are those of benildered fear. Now, even if Denshawai were a separate incident it would be a yery serious matter to so fatally wrong-headed. Whatever other con-clusions we may draw, it is at least certain that out administrators, do not understand the temperament of the people they are governing. The question becomes, have they made any effort to understand I How many, for instance, of those officials who are thrown into contact with the people of the country can understand their lawrenge or any wrest in the actionate. their language or are versed in the etiquette of their social life?

In South Africa many Boers keep their hats on their heads when they enter aroom and expectorate at leisure on the carpet. This conduct would be considered a little ontro in

Is it not perhaps possible our officials trans-ress in an equally serious manner? Is there, andeed, any adequate provision to prevent uch possible offences? The shooting of domesticated pigeons does not sound as if there were

The matter, however, is by no means confined to the one incident. The Denshawai pienic does can parallel it almost detail for detail in the incidents which occurred before the late hard examples; the failure to understand, the refusal to try to understand, the sudden panic or minor officials spreading up into the central administration; the harsh measures of retribution, the imagination of a big nationalretribution, the imagination of a big national-ist "Bthiopian" movement. All these things were parts of the Richmond incident which

If an administration will only go on irritat-ing a people, whom it does not understand, long enough, if it will only go on telling them they are dangerous ratiors running nationalist dreams, that people will come to believe act upon the dovermment's suggestions. The question finally is one of the possibility of avoiding this kind of stupplity.

"all possible humanity was shown," and "the arrangements reflected great-credit on all concreted," and then parallel this with a quotation from the Nanal shooting correspondence where a elegipson of the Church that the disease is deep-seated. Unless our administrators can realise that the disease is deep-seated. Unless our administrators can realise that the disease of classes are human beings, and can understand them as human beings, and can understand them as human beings, there is no further for our Empire.

there is no future for our Empire.

Meanwhile there are some Deushawai natives still in prison. We have made them our enemies, that is the worst of stupidity, but there is no reston why they should be out there is no rescon-why-they should be kept there any longer. We are glad to see that a petition signed by Egyptian notables was presented to the Khedive on June 28, the anniversary of the "hanging" incident; and we hope that the petition will be supported by questions in the House of Commons.

MANCHESTER GOODS.

TRADE WITH EGYPT.

It was hoped at one time, says the "Monthly Journal" of the British Chamber of Commerce for Egypt, that the financial crisis through which we are passing would not affect to any appreciable extent this branch of the import trade, piece goods dealers, as a rule, being free from any desire to purchase stocks and trade, piece goods dealers, as a rule, being free from any desire to purchase stocks and shares; but the suspension of the Gassa di-Sconto has quite dissipated that hope, as this establishment appears to have been in direct financial relation with vargions firms interested in the trade. Business during the month of June has been extremely quiet. A few small sales of cheap goods may have been made; a sales of cheap goods may have been made; a booked: and that is about all ther one proported. No revival is likely to take place until the present unesainess and want of con-fidence have passed away.

PLAGUE IN INDIA

The following mortality following the out-break of plague in India is shown by figures furnished by the India Office in reply to a parliamentary question.

In 1896 there were 1,704 deaths, but in the following year the record leaped to 56,000.

the following year ture become a specific for the following from the rate of increase was a lail. But it was only temporary. During 1900 over a million deaths were recorded, and this year, for the first five months, the appling total is 994,003.

See This was not a specific for the first five of the first five and in the first five was the first five and in balf million deaths have occurred.

EGYPT'S IMPORTS

AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY.

In 1906 the imports were derived as follows:

—United Kingdom, L.E. 184,223; Switzer-land, L.E. 21,961; Germany, L.E. 11,824; America, L.E. 11,439; France, L.E. 3,800; other countries, L.E. 1,387. Egypt is essentially an agricultural country, and the Sudan appears likely to become one, so in the near opposar likely to become one, so in the near statutes truch in a continuous control of the near statutes truch in a more of mine million found in the control of the control of the control of the Egypt shot of an area of nine million feddens only six millions are under crop, the remaining three-million feddens will be outlivated when the scheme's of irrigation drawn up by the Government have been realised. Schemes are also on foot for largely increas-ing the agricultural resources of the Sudan, and this will naturally lead to a large demand for the necessary implements. The work of education of the passants is being carried out by means of agricultural exhibitions or-ganized by the Khedivial Agricultural Society.
